STATE OF NORTH-CAROLINA,

Johnston COUNTY.

K NOW all men by these presents, That we

Antonio Curran
James Smith
in the state aforesaid, are held and firmly bound unto Benj. Williams

Esquire, Governor, &c. of the state aforesaid, in the just and full sum of Five Hundred Pounds, current money of this state, to be paid to the said Governor or his successors in office : To the which payment well and truly to be made and done, we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors and administrators. Sealed with our seals, and dated this 10th day of Novr anno Dom. 1800

THE Condition of the above obligation is such, That whereas the above bounden hath made application for a license for a marriage to be celebrated between him and of the county aforesaid : Now in case it shall not appear hereafter, that there is any lawful cause to obstruct the said marriage, then the above obligation to be void, otherwise to remain in full force and virtue.

Signed, sealed and delivered in the presence of

How Can I Best Research North Carolina Marriage Bonds, 1741-1868?

There are many types of marriage records. Some of these include consent affidavits, marriage banns (religious custom), marriage bonds, marriage licenses, and marriage certificates. The information provided in these records will vary according to purpose and the year in which they were created, but almost all of them list the names of the bride and groom and the date and place of the event. Occasionally the names of parents, ages of bride and groom, birthplaces of bride and groom, signature of the issuing clerk, and other details will also be found among marriage records.

Use information found in marriage records to lead you to other records. For instance, if the ages of the bride and groom are listed in the record, you can calculate an approximate date of birth, which will then tell you where to begin looking for birth records of these individuals. Try to match the dates on marriage licenses to newspaper announcements of weddings that can fill in extra details. Also, see if there are city directories, church records, or other records of the individual that you have been able to pinpoint being in a certain place at a certain time.
