for the first church gatherings. Teachers were mostly paid with farm produce, but after the rock schoolhouse was completed with three classrooms, very efficient teachers were hired.

There were times when those called by leadership were given a certain reason for their calling. Many of those chosen to go to Iron County were assigned to work in the iron mines; the first to Cache County were to find suitable ranges for the Church cattle and other cattle, while those called to Las Vegas, Nevada, were to establish a settlement along the Spanish Trail and to be missionaries to the Indians of that locality.

Sanpete County was settled when the Indian chief asked for a village to be located in the Valley of the Utes. The colonists were to make friends with the Indians and strengthen Zion by establishing Mormon villages. Sometimes towns were established along the traveled roads to break the distance between stopping places. Such was one of the reasons for the town of Beaver located between the nearly one hundred miles separating Fillmore from Parowan. The Elk Mountain mission, was an attempt to found a Mormon village in Grand County along the Old Spanish Trail. Two other attempts at Mormon colonization, one in Carson Valley, Nevada; the other, in San Bernardino, California followed the pattern of villages made in Utah.

In the expansion from valley to valley two types of mills, the grist and saw mills, were the first industries to be erected. Then came the tannery, which, with the expansion of the textile industry, solved, in part, the pioneers' clothing needs. Others followed as their needs became apparent.

DRAPER—1849

The little Mormon community of Draper is situated in the southeast corner of Salt Lake Valley at the foot of the Rocky Mountains. It has a population of approximately 2,000 people and is a fine example of what can be done with cooperative methods. The location was originally known as South Willow Creek so named because of the creek by which it is situated. The late President Joseph F. Smith and Norman Brown herded cattle in the vicinity shortly after the Saints entered Salt Lake Valley. In November, 1849 Ebenezer Brown and his two sons, Joseph Guernsey and Norman settled here to raise and fatten cattle to sell to the immigrants. The following spring his wife and another son, John, arrived and built the first home. In July, 1850 Henry Day came and built the second house in South Willow Creek. From then on more settlers came, including Andrew Jackson Allen, Andrew Burnham and Perry Fitzgerald.

William R. Terry, Absolom Smith, Jacob E. Terry, William Draper, Zemira Draper, John P. Wright, Robert Shipley, James Downs,

Joseph L. and Harvey Rawlins and George Bankhead, a southerner with several slaves belonging to his household, came in the fall of 1850. Later came John Smith, Lauritz Smith and Joshua Terry so that by 1852, there were approximately thirty-one families living along the creek. A branch of the church was organized and an adobe one-room church erected, which two years later was enclosed in the fort. William Draper was chosen the Presiding Elder and later the name of the community was changed to Draper in his honor. The cemetery was located close to the fort. The citizens farmed the adjacent land, each one owning enough to meet the needs of his family.

Perhaps one of the most prominent names to stand out in the history of the little Mormon village of Draper is that of John R. Parks who came, a lone traveler, into the little community in the summer of 1861. He stopped at the home of Absolom Smith and asked for work to pay for lodgings for a few days. Mr. Smith, a counselor to Bishop Isaac M. Stewart, said he might stay but it was not necessary for him to work. However, the young man insisted and was put to work shocking corn. Mr. Smith noticed that he was quiet, dignified and appeared to be well educated. He asked John if he had ever taught school. Receiving a negative answer, he asked if he could read, write and understand arithmetic, to which he answered "yes." He was then asked if he would like to teach school and the young man replied that he would like to try very much. He was hired with the understanding that there would be little cash pay. He consented to teach for his board and lodgings and some other form of compensation in the form of food stuffs.

This was the beginning of a career in teaching that was outstanding. He taught the Draper children the three "R's," music, organized a fife and drum band; advanced lessons in English, geology and nature classes. In the evenings the oldsters met in the little schoolhouse for instruction. It was found he also possessed a knowledge of medicine and surgery and many broken bones were set and infected teeth pulled by the village schoolmaster. From the diary of Andrew Jackson Allen, we quote:

"We have now and have had for some years a schoolteacher that is very much appreciated by a portion of the brethren though not by all on account of it costing more money than they think it should, though I appreciate it very much. The teacher's name is John Rocky Park. We pay him $1,200 in gold per year." He later became one of the founders of the University of Utah and a great leader in educational advancement throughout the West.

Among the well known men who were reared in Draper and had much to do in shaping the destiny of this little Mormon village are: Zebulum Stewart, William M. Stewart, Samuel Stewart, Joseph L. Rawlins, Henry Pierson and J. Mickelsen. Draper's population is almost entirely Latter-day Saint. Among the bishops who have served faithfully are Isaac M. Stewart, William C. Allen, Willard B. Ennis, Soren Rasmussen, Peter C. Rasmussen, M. Burgess Andrus and Alma F. Smith.—Files of D. U. P.

CEDAR CITY—1851

Cedar City is a beautiful town situated on the rim of the Great Basin 5,615 feet above sea level. The census of 1880 estimated 740 inhabitants, 135 houses, 142 families. Its streets, running in unison with the four cardinal points of the compass, are lined on each side with Cottonwood trees, 2 ft. in diameter and 2 rods apart. The community has an abundance of pure mountain water for domestic and irrigating purposes. Stores, school, meeting and dwelling houses are of stone, brick or adobe of varied architecture. Orchards bearing apples, plums, walnuts, peaches, pears and apricots, etc., nestle in a nook of the Wasatch Mountains, 270 miles south of Salt Lake City, and mountains towering still another 2,000 ft. higher on the east and south sides of the town and with an open view to the north and west to a valley many miles in extent, presents to the eye of the traveler an air of comfort and neatness.

Cedar City has a history that is unique and interesting. It is truly a Mormon village. As early as November, 1849, Parley Parker Pratt, one of the Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints with fifty other men in 12 wagons, 1 carriage, 24 yokes of oxen, 7 beeves, 58 horses and mules were commissioned by Governor Young and the Legislative Assembly of the State of Deseret to go on a tour or exploring expedition into the dreary and almost unknown regions of Southern Utah.

On the report of Parley P. Pratt to President Brigham Young and the Twelve Apostles, it was decided to colonize the far south. On November 1, 1851, Henry Lunt, the first man called, of a company of thirty-five men, was detailed to go from Parowan to settle the Little Muddy. On November 3rd, Henry Lunt, E. A. Groves, Wm. H. Dame, James A. Little, George A. Smith and others arrived from Parowan on the spot marked out by Parley P. Pratt two years previous for settlement. Next day the city was surveyed by William H. Dame and laid out according to the City of Zion plan. It is distant about one mile due north from the present location. The name of Cedar City was given because of the abundance of cedar trees which abounded all over the country. George A. Smith, in humility before God, together with the rest of his fellow pioneers, dedicated the ground just surveyed, the surrounding land, the minerals, the water, the timber and grass to the service of God in the manufacture of iron, machinery, etc., "that our necessities might be supplied and the territory built up."

THE OLD ROCK GRANARY No. 100

As early as 1845, Brigham Young advised the Saints to store grain. December 14, 1876, Bishop Joseph S. Rawlins asked the sisters living in this vicinity to store wheat. February 8, 1877, the first donations were received. A temporary bin was built. Later, a tract of land 20 rods wide was given for the granary. On July 13, 1877, Mary Rawlins was made chairman of the building committee. Some of the young men were asked to haul the rock. On May 17, 1878, the granary was completed.
South Cottonwood Camp Salt Lake County

In the early days of Utah, President Brigham Young advised the brethren to store wheat and corn in case famine should come to the Saints so far from civilization. In the years 1848-1849, wheat ranged in price from $4.00 to $5.00 per bushel.

On December 14, 1876, Bishop Joseph S. Rawlins of South Cottonwood met with the Relief Society saying that the brethren had been instructed to store wheat, but had not done so, hence, he asked the sisters to store it. On February 8, 1877, donations were taken up by the Relief Society and $7.50 collected. A temporary bin was made in Bishop Rawlin's granary by Charles Walters for which he received $3.00 for labor. Wheat was then bought and stored in this bin to the amount of $50.35.

A tract of land 20 rods wide on the south side of the Ward house was given to the Ward for the granary. Plans were made for a building 15 ft. x 20 ft. with an 8 ft. ceiling. The walls were 18 inches thick with granite on the outside, and lined with brick.

Joseph Thompson and Charles Walters erected the building which stored 195 bushels of wheat the first year.

This marker was erected, May 7, 1947, in South Salt Lake County.

Henry Day, auto, holograph copy, LDS Church Archives, Pg. 11
In the year 1878, Henry Day and Joseph Rawlins were prompted to go to the Point of the Mountain at the Jordan Narrows and have a site located for a canal to be built on the east side of the Jordan River to irrigate land that could not get water from any other source. Three days later a company from Salt Lake City went to the Jordan Narrows to locate a canal for the same purpose.

The first ballot for United States senator in the Utah legislature resulted in a draw. The chief candidates were Joseph Rawlins, Moses Thatcher and Henry P. Henderson.

J S Rawlins

His father, John S. Carpenter, was a native of Pennsylvania and emigrated to Utah in the pioneer days, settling in Salt Lake City and then engaged in farming in Mill Creek, later moving to what is now Kamas, in 1866. Here he took up land and engaged in farming and stock raising, and became one of the prominent men of the place. He died at the age of seventy-two years, in 1898. His wife, Catherine Carpenter, is still living in the family home. She is the mother of eight children.

For a number of years after he started out for himself our subject worked by the day, saving his earnings and in 1885 started in the lumber business in a small way, operating a saw mill in Beaver canyon and furnishing timber for the Park City mines. He has followed this business to a certain extent ever since. In 1895 he started a small store, gradually increasing the business, and during this time built the Carpenter opera house and dance hall, and in 1897 built his present store, which is a two-story building, thirty by seventy feet. He carries a full line of merchandise, wagons, farm implements and hardware, having a stock worth about ten thousand dollars, which is the largest stock carried by an individual in this county. He also owns a ranch from which he raises an excellent crop of hay, usually putting up about two hundred tons a year, and buys and sells cattle, feeding about seventy-five head at a time. He also runs a public feed stable. He is the owner of some real estate in Salt Lake City and has been very successful in all his business ventures.

Mr. Carpenter was married in 1886 to Miss Martha J. Turnbow, daughter of John G. and Elizabeth Turnbow of Kamas. Seven children have been born of this marriage—Alphonso, Martin, Montclair, Olive, Lacy D., Etta and the baby.

He is regarded as one of the most successful business men of Summit county, wide-awake and energetic. He has done much towards aiding in the building of church and school buildings and is actively interested in all public enterprises. Besides his holdings in and about Kamas, he is interested in real estate in Oak City, where he owns the Maple Hall.

BISHOP JOSEPH RAWLINS, DECEASED. In reviewing the lives of those who came to Utah when it was yet a wild and undeveloped tract of land, and after spending a life time in the work of bringing it up to its present high state of perfection, have laid aside the cares of life and passed on to their reward, we should not overlook the name of Bishop Rawlins, one of the most prominent and influential men of his day in Salt Lake county.

He was born in Green county, Illinois, April 9, 1823, and was the son of James and Jane (Sharp) Rawlins, who was born in Indiana, and moved to Green county, Illinois, early in life. From there the family moved to Hancock county, that State, where our subject met the lady who afterwards became his wife, Miss Mary Frost, daughter of John and Nancy (Pate) Frost. Her father was a native of North Carolina, and her mother came from Tennessee, Mrs. Rawlins also being born in the latter State. The marriage of our subject occurred in 1844. Three children were born of this union—Nancy Jane, now the wife of R. M. Kerr, a resident of Cache county; Mary E. was born April 1, 1848, and died in 1861; and Joseph L., at this time serving as United States Senator from Utah. They also raised a boy, Orson W., whom they have always regarded as a son, and he is at this time in the southern States on a mission for the Mormon Church. He makes his home with Mrs. Rawlins.

The year following their marriage Bishop Rawlins and his wife were converted to the teachings of Mormonism, and joined the Church. They came to Utah in a train of fifty wagons in 1848, leaving Omaha on the 12th day of April and after a journey of just six months arrived in Salt Lake City on October 12th; they at once moved to Mill Creek Ward, where they lived about two years, and for twenty years thereafter made their home at Draper, nine miles south of Murray. During this time our subject crossed the plains seven times, bringing three companies of emigrants to Utah, and also served for three months as guard in protecting the United States overland mails, serving under Captain L. Smith, with the rank of Lieutenant. After discontinuing their residence in Draper the family moved to a farm containing fifty acres, in South Cottonwood Ward, and here the Bishop lived during the remainder of his life. He was appointed Bishop of this Ward in 1870 and retained the position as long as he lived.

Politically the family have been Democrats for generations back. Our subject was at the time of his death serving his second term as County Commissioner, being elected both times on the Democratic ticket; and his son received his election as Senator from that party.

During his lifetime the Bishop was most active in all matters having for their object the betterment of conditions in Utah; he assisted in constructing the East Jordan canal and held the office of President of the company as long as he lived. He also did considerable railroad contracting, assisting in building the first railroad to enter Utah and also the road across the Jordan Narrows. During the Johnston army troubles he was Captain of the guards sent out to guard the passes in Echo canyon against the approach of the army; and also participated in many of the Indian uprisings in Utah. His death occurred October 13, 1900, and he was laid to rest amidst universal mourning, his manly and upright living, together with his charitable and hospitable nature endearing him to all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

His widow is now living in Forestdale, a suburb of Salt Lake City, where she has a lovely brick residence. She is well known for her work in the Church societies and enjoys the highest esteem and regard of all who know her.

DAN LAMBERT, Bishop of Kamas Ward, Summit Stake of Zion, Summit county. Whether assisting in the work of his Church or the development of the resources of Summit county; working for the improvement of its public schools, or for the advancement of the social and political conditions of his county, Bishop Lambert can always be found in the front rank, of whom Summit county has no more honored or highly respected citizen. While he was born in Salt Lake City, his whole life has been spent in this county, and his upright and straightforward life, together with his enterprising spirit and self-denial for the good of his fellow-men has won for him a large circle of friends.

Bishop Lambert's father was John Lambert, a native of Yorkshire, England, where he was born January 31, 1820. He became a member of the Mormon Church in England and emigrated to America in 1842, joining the Mormon colony at Nauvoo, where he remained until the exodus of 1846. He made the trip across the great American plains by ox team in 1850 and settled in Salt Lake City, following the business of contracting and building. In 1861 he moved to Kamas, where he took up land and established a home, his land being in the center of the present town. He successfully followed farming the remainder of his life, and was the father of a large family, being the husband of two wives and the father of twenty-one children, sixteen of whom are now living. He was active in all Church work and a member of the Seventies. He died at the advanced age of seventy-four years, on November 25, 1893.

Our subject was born March 2, 1861, and was the third child of Eleanor H. (Larson) Lambert, a native of Denmark. She was baptized at twelve years of age, and was the first girl to receive that ordinance in the kingdom of Denmark. He grew up on his father's farm in Kamas, and received his education in the common schools of that place. He began life for himself in 1882, when he and his brothers took a contract for supplying native timber for the mines of Park City, and has followed this business largely since then. He owns a fine farm near town, and has devoted considerable attention to the raising of blooded stock, particularly cattle.

Bishop Lambert was married in 1885 to Miss May Young, daughter of Phineas Young, a brother of President Brigham Young. They have had a family of six children—Bathara, died in infancy; Lila M., Dan D., Marie, Craig and Lawrence T.

In political life Bishop Lambert owes allegiance to the Democratic party, in whose ranks he has

HISTORY—When Apostle Amasa M. Lyman arrived in Great Salt Lake Valley with his company of Saints, in October, 1848, he located part of them (mainly a number of families from the State of Mississippi (at a point between the two Cotton... Creeks, about ten miles south-east from the Great Salt Lake City fort. A tract of country, consisting of about one mile square, was surveyed and divided into 10-acre lots for the convenience of the settlers, among whom were Amasa M. Lyman, Wm. Crosby, Daniel Clark, James M. Flake, John Tanner and sons (Sidney and Nathan), Daniel M. Thomas, John Brown, John H. Bankhead, Wm. H. Lay and others, with their respective families. The place of their location was subsequently known as the "Amasa Survey."

During the fall and winter of 1848 a few houses were built of logs, which the brethren hauled from near the mouth of Big Cottonwood and Mill Creek Canyons, but most of the people lived in their tents and wagons until spring, when a number of other houses were built. The first adobe house was erected by John Brown in the summer of 1849.

In the meantime water had been taken out of the two Cottonwood Creeks, and other improvements made. The number of settlers were also increased by several families locating on various points along the creeks. A Ward organization, known originally as the Cottonwood Ward but which afterwards changed name to South Cottonwood, was finally effected with William Crosby as Bishop; James M. Flake was one of his Counselors.

During the year 1849 a small crop of wheat was raised, but it grew so scattered and short that when harvest came, most of it had to be pulled up by hand. The little colony, however, was very industrious. The crickets were fought vigorously, and immense numbers of them killed; but notwithstanding this, the crops would, no doubt, have been destroyed, had not the gulls ... in their appearance. At first, when the colonists saw these birds coming down from beyond the Great Salt Lake, they feared they were a new plague, but when their extraordinary appetite for crickets became known, the farmers retired to their houses, leaving the fields of grain and the crickets to the gulls. It was soon discovered that the birds were far more successful than human labor.

DEATH OF BISHOP JOSEPH S. RAWLINS.

from Journal History of Church

Bishop Joseph S. Rawlins died this morning at about 7:45. For an account of his sickness and death and biography also see the Deseret News of this date page 8. The following is from the Salt Lake Herald of the 14th.

Passed Peacefully Away Early Yesterday Morning.

BUSY LIFE IS ENDED

WAS CHAIRMAN OF BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Death claimed Bishop Joseph Sharp Rawlins at 7:45 yesterday morning, after lingering many days about the venerable old man's bedside. The end was in no way unexpected, but it will be sad tidings to hundreds of friends in this city, as well as Murray, his home.

The bishop was widely known as chairman of the board of county commissioners for this county, and he was the father of Senator Joseph L. Rawlins. His illness was of two weeks' duration, being a complication of troubles centering in the heart and lungs. He lost consciousness Friday night and the physicians announced that he could not survive many hours. His family gathered about the deathbed during his last hours and witnessed the end. Bishop Rawlins did not gain consciousness.

Joseph Sharp Rawlins.

It was just fifty-two years ago Friday last that Bishop and Mrs. Rawlins arrived in Salt Lake valley, and his career from that very day has been active. He was the possessor of a clear and unbiased mind, and his counsel in matters pertaining to irrigation in early days was invaluable. The bishop was also averse to going into court with disputes, and was a popular favorite with all classes for his peaceful, kind and loving nature.

The funeral will occur at 2 p. m. Monday at the South Cottonwood meeting house.

Career of Bishop Rawlins.

Joseph Sharp Rawlins was born April 9, 1823, near Whitehall, Green county, Ill., his parents being James and Jane Sharp Rawlins. He was baptized into the Mormon church by Elder Frederick Van Luven [illegible]ne 4, [illegible], and during the same year married Miss Mary Frost, mother of Senator Rawlins, the oldest son. The year after the coming of the pioneers, in 1848, Mr. and Mrs. Rawlins arrived in Salt Lake, settling at Mill Creek. After two years' residence there the family moved to Draper, also in Salt Lake county, and there they resided for the next twenty-two years, returning to South Cottonwood at the end of that time, Mr. Rawlins having been called to preside over the ward as bishop.

He was a leader among his people and cheerfully responded to every call of the church, going across the plains to guide emigrants to Utah a number of times at the request of President Brigham Young. His first party arrived here Aug. 20, 1864, the bishop being captain of the company. In the fall of 1866 he piloted an ox train of 400 saints into the valley, and he was one of the ten captains who left Salt Lake in 1868 to go to Julesburg, the terminus of the Union Pacific, to meet a large company of emigrants.

Received Johnston's Army.

Bishop Rawlins played a prominent part in making preparations for the reception of Johnston's army in 1861, and he was one of those who explored the Elk mountains a few years previous to that eventful period. He also served as a lieutenant of volunteers under Lot Smith to protect the United States mail. In 1868 he took a contract for considerable construction work on the Union Pacific, and followed the business of a contractor for three years following.

When the East Jordan Irrigation company was organized, Bishop Rawlins became its head, and he was afterward chairman of the board of canal presidents, comprising all the Salt Lake county irrigation interests. He was one of the Utah lake and Jordan dam commissioners for several years.

Bishop Rawlins was elected county commissioner on the Democratic ticket four years ago, and was re-elected two years ago. Upon the death of Francis Armstrong he was chosen chairman of the board.

Regret Is Manifested.

As soon as Mayor Thompson heard of the death of Commissioner Rawlins he directed Deputy Recorder Nystrom to send invitations to the members of the council, the elective officers and all of the heads of the municipal departments, requesting them to meet at the recorder's office on Monday at 1 o'clock. With the assembling of the city officials at the time and place stated they will proceed to Murray to attend the funeral of the worthy deceased as a mark of respect to his memory.

When the news reached the city and county building yesterday morning the flags on the building were flung at half-mast. As a further expression of the sorrow that pervaded the public building the entrance to the session room of the board of county commissioners was draped in mourning, and at the main entrance on the county side crepe was hung. All of the officials and employees arranged for floral emblems to be placed on the bier of the greatly-loved old gentleman.

Mrs. Whipple, matron of the county infirmary, draped the institution with crepe yesterday upon learning the distressing news, and all over the city expressions of sorrow were heard.

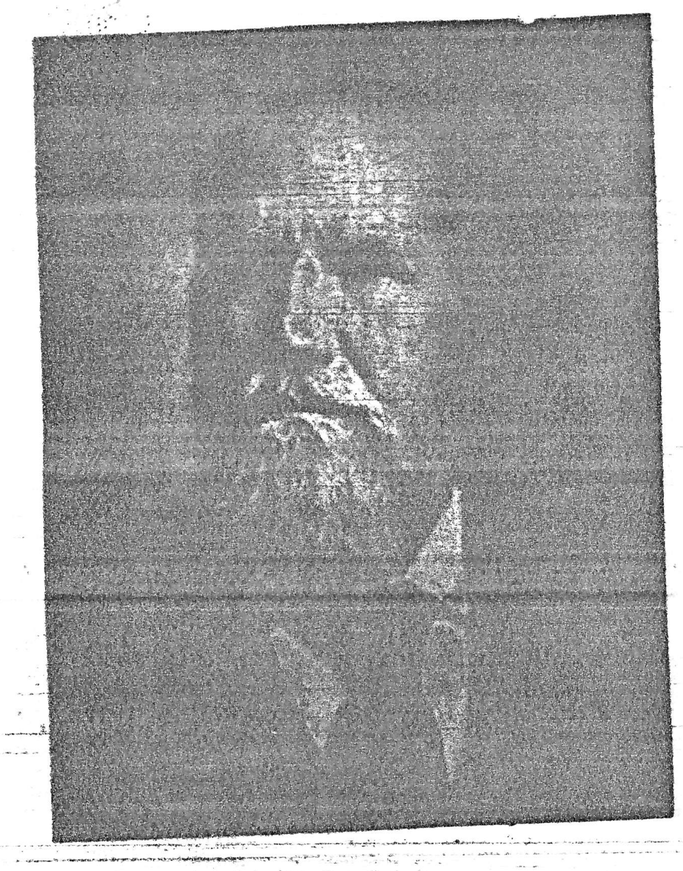

Second Commissioner to Die.

Bishop Rawlins is the second member of the board of county commissioners in recent years who died before his term of office had expired. A year ago last summer Commissioner Francis Armstrong died in office, and Marcellus S. Woolley was chosen by the two surviving commissioners to fill the vacancy for the unexpired term. The opinion prevailed yesterday that precedent would again be followed by the selection of William J. Horne, the nominee of the Democratic convention for the ensuing term, to fill the place of Commissioner Rawlins. In this event, however, it will be necessary for Mr. Horne to resign his office as justice of the peace of Granger precinct.

...ended as they have been ever since. He was taken with the ... week advised through the press the last few days of his illness.

For the greater part of the forty-eight hours preceding his death the

BISHOP J. R. RAWLINS,

Bishop had been unconscious, rallying only occasionally, under the administration of stimulants. His wife, Senator Rawlins, his oldest son, and other children were constantly at his bedside to smooth the pillow of death and to keep vigil over him during the closing hours of his life upon earth. The end came at 7:45 o'clock this morning. The deep sleep into which he had fallen with the approach of unconsciousness kept its mantle around him to the last and when the end came it came peacefully and without the least evidence of physical struggle.

It is an interesting fact to know that it was just fifty-two years ago yesterday since the arrival in Salt Lake City of the Bishop and his wife. The funeral services will be held in the South Cottonwood meeting house on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

In the death of Bishop Rawlins, the community loses a true and worthy citizen in every sense of the word, a man who has spent the greater part of his life in its upbuilding, whose conservatism and calm judgment are as widely known as his own good name. His career has been of the busiest kind. In his business dealing with his fellowmen he was scrupulously honest, and as a man of affairs he was eminently successful.

In matters of irrigation and the complications arising therefrom he was a conspicuous figure and a sound adviser and often served the people of this county in that capacity. A prevailing trait in this particular was his strong disinclination to settle disputes in the courts. He was essentially an arbiter and no matter how grave the issue believed that the proper solution could be found in arbitration. The death of Bishop Rawlins brings to mind the fact that twice during the present administration of the county commissioners has the board been deprived of its chairman, Francis Armstrong, his predecessor, having also died in office.

BIOGRAPHICAL.

Joseph Sharp Rawlins was the son of James and Jane Sharp Rawlins, and was born on the 8th day of April, 1823, near Whitehall Green county, Illinois. His boyhood days were very similar to those of other boys who, like himself, have become self-made men. From his earliest youth he was accustomed to the ways of industry, a custom that remained with him to the last. He was baptized by Elder Frederick Van Luven, June 4, 1844, the year he attained his majority. This was also the year of his marriage to Miss Mary Frost, mother of Senator Rawlins, who, with five children, survive him. The union took place in Hancock county, Illinois. Together they came to Utah in 1848, the year after the advent of the Pioneers. They immediately settled at Mill Creek, but remained there for two years only. In 1850 the family moved to Draper, and for the next twenty-two years made that place their home, when they moved on Oct. 1, 1866, he piloted an ox-train of 400 Saints and sixty-five wagons into this valley. In 1868 he was one of ten captains who left Salt Lake City with 500 teams to go to Julesburg, the terminus of the Union Pacific railroad, then under construction to connect with the Central Pacific at Promontory, to meet a large company of "Mormons" and to assist in transporting them to this city. These captains were: Edward T. Mumford, Joseph S. Rawlins, John G. Holman, William S. Seeley, John R. Murdock, Daniel D. McArthur, John Gillespie, Horton D. Haight, Chester Loveland and Simpson M. Molen.

Antedating this period there were interesting points in his busy life. In 1855 he assisted in the exploration of the Elk mountains and in 1861 took an active part in the preparations made at the time of the coming of Johnston's army. He also served with the title of lieutenant among the volunteers under Captain Lot Smith, called for to protect the mail route. In 1868 he took a contract on the Union Pacific, and for three years followed contract work almost exclusively.

Later he organized the East Jordan Irrigation company and became its president, and afterwards became the chairman of the board of canal presidents, which board comprised the presidents of the North, Jordan, South Jordan, East Jordan and the Utah and Salt Lake Canal companies. He has also served for several years as a member of the Utah Lake and Jordan Dam commissioners.

Four years ago he was elected county commissioner on the Democratic ticket, and two years ago succeeded himself to the same office.

AT THE JOINT BUILDING.

Chief Janitor Siddoway Places the Flag at Half Mast and Decorates.

Just as soon as the news of the death of Commissioner Rawlins reached his co-laborers—Messrs. Whitaker and Woolley—word was sent to the joint building to have the flag placed at half mast. Chief Janitor John Siddoway, who was visibly affected upon receipt of the sad tidings, personally attended to the half-masting of the flag, and also superintended a few appropriate decorations. Rosettes of black and white were hung on the doors leading to the west and south entrances. In the commissioners' private apartments, the desk and chair of the dead official were draped in mourning, while the entrance to the offices was also appropriately decorated.

At the Infirmary.

Mrs. Whipple, matron of the county infirmary, today draped the poor house in black crepe, out of respect to the memory of Chairman J. S. Rawlins, of the board of commissioners, who died this morning.

OBJECTS TO ORDINANCE.

The portion of the lines to which the Rapid Transit company objected to the application of the ordinance was on Ninth and Eleventh East streets, south of Tenth South street, where it was claimed money was being lost with the hourly service and to be compelled to give a half-hourly service simply meant that the company will be compelled to lose double the money it was now losing.

Three hours were devoted to arguments for and against the passage of the ordinance, at the conclusion of which Chairman Thomas announced that the committees would meet early next week and formulate a report for presentation to the City Council at the next regular meeting.

When they thought he had got out of the vicinity they resumed their journey, but on reaching the corner of E street the man jumped from behind a tree and seized one of them about the waist. Both young ladies rent the air with their screams, and John R. Hardy, who was eating his supper, was on the scene instantly. But the villain fled and there was nothing for the gallant Hardy to do but escort the young ladies home.

SUPPORT FOREIGN MISSIONS

Rev. Dr. Thomas Marshall Addresses Presbyterian Synod.

The Presbyterian Synod met at the First Presbyterian church this morning. Devotional exercises were engaged in, and after Dr. Paden, as chairman of the committee on church erection, had made his report, a stirring address was made by Rev. Dr. Thomas Marshall, field secretary of Presbyterian missionary fields. He announced that the church required $1,000,000 next year for the support of foreign missions. He made a most eloquent plea for the missions, and affirmed that not one half of the congregations in the East attended church, and less than that number contributed to its support.

The Synod was in session this afternoon, and there will be another meeting this evening, at which matters pertaining to the Synod will be discussed.

A benefit social in honor of William Parkinson, who is soon to depart for the missionary field, will be given in the Tenth ward meeting house on Monday evening next, at 8 o'clock. An excellent program has been prepared.

THE FUNERAL OF BISHOP RAWLINS

Largely Attended by Friends From City and County This Afternoon.

SERVICES MOST IMPRESSIVE.

Municipal and County Officials Were Present—Tributes to the Deceased—Interred in the Home Cemetery.

[SPECIAL TO THE NEWS.]

MURRAY, Oct. 15.—The funeral services over the remains of the late Bishop Joseph S. Rawlins were held this afternoon at the South Cottonwood meeting house attended by a large concourse of people.

It was 1 o'clock when the meeting house was opened and long before that hour enough people were on the outside to more than twice fill the building. The consequence was that when the doors were finally opened members were unable to gain admission. At 11.30 today four large conveyances drove away from the City and County building, all being quickly filled by city and county officials, deputies and clerks who were driven to the late residence of the esteemed bishop in South Cottonwood. There a last look of the dead was taken after which a procession was formed and marched to the meeting house which is only a short distance from the family residence of the deceased.

Undertaker Joseph E. Taylor had charge of the funeral arrangements, the pallbearers being John Q. Labrum, Henry Bird, James Gilbert, Henry Brown, Joseph Thompson and William Atwood. Among those who came from Salt Lake City were Mayor Thompson, Commissioners Whitaker and Woolley, Judge Hiles, County Attorney Peters, Auditor Wood, Treasurer Lynch, Recorder Jensen, Superintendent Whipple, of the County Infirmary, Sheriff Hurley, Chief Deputy John Montgomery, Jr., Commissioner Thomas Hewlett, Harry Castle, Colonel Hood and Tedderham. From Tax Inspector Svenson, Chief Janitor Siddoway, Lamb and Water Commissioner Westerfield, City Treasurer Morris, Chief Deputies Lizzie and Healy and many others.

The meeting house was beautifully and tastefully draped, and the floral emblems were large and profuse in number.

On the stand were Presidents George Q. Cannon, Joseph F. Smith, President Angus M. Cannon, President Frank K. Taylor, Elder James Sharp, Judge LeGrand Young, Mayor Thompson, Whitaker, John Crook and Thomas Phillips, and many Bishops and counselors of neighboring wards. President Frank K. Taylor presided, and the meeting commenced by the choir singing the "Hallelujah Chorus." Prayer was offered by Bishop Phillips of Union Stake. There is Sweet Rest in Heaven."

The first speaker was Elder John Wheeler, the late Bishop's first counselor, who spoke of his intimate acquaintance with the deceased extending over a period of twenty years, and testified of his many sterling qualities. He was, said the speaker, an honest man, a broad minded man, a man that did much for the people of this commonwealth.

County Commissioner M. R. Woolley followed in a few brief but pointed remarks concerning the deceased. Said the speaker, as a bishop he was kind, as a father impartial, as a citizen upright, just and progressive, as a Bishop a talker, as a public officer his course was always upright, just and equitable. His death was the consummation of a well spent life. For the future there was no doubt as to the condition of Bishop Joseph Sharp Rawlins.

Bishop John R. Winder was the next speaker and in behalf of the Bishopric of the Church he conveyed to the family of the deceased the heartfelt sympathy for the loss sustained by the death of so noble, so pure and so good a man as Joseph R. Rawlins.

President Angus M. Cannon followed and said the public would miss Bishop Rawlins. "But," said he, "I congratulate him upon his departure from this world. He will come forth as an immortal being and rise with the just on the morn of the first resurrection. The deceased was the worthy follower of the Master, and as all times proved himself faithful to his several callings."

Interment was in the South Cottonwood cemetery.

WHAT FILIPINO PEOPLE WANT.

All Except Tagloga are in Favor of American Supremacy.

WHO BEGAN THE TROUBLE.

Filipinos Rebels, Fired First on the Americans—Only Robbers Fighting Now—Present Situation.

New York, Oct. 15.—Lieut. Edward Flaherty, who has recently been honorably discharged from the army after recovering from illness contracted with the Twenty-seventh Volunteer Infantry in the Philippines, believes that the island of Luzon has been thoroughly pacified.

"There are no Filipinos fighting against the United States now," said he, last night. "Save a straggling band of robbers, or ladrones. They are still thick in several provinces, and were noticeably numerous in the province of Morong until the Twenty-seventh Infantry drove them out in a campaign ending with the battle of Tanay last January.

"All the Filipinos except the Tagalos are in favor of American supremacy. Some of the Filipinos have actually turned their arms against the ladrones and killed some of them. It is feasible to suppress a large number of soldiers there with natives enlisted in the American service and it ought to be done to some extent. The indecisive obey to a large extent the orders of Aguinaldo, though their hands are so widely spread."

Lieut. Flaherty said that Private Chesen of the First Nebraska volunteers was the first American to fire on the Filipinos. He did not fire until he had been fired upon, and the Insurgents, and then he killed a Filipino lieutenant and servant with one shot out of a Springfield rifle. The Filipinos began hostilities."

INFLUENCE OF GEN. CHAFFEE

Owing to American Policy, It is Greater Than Other Officers in China.

Popularity of American Commander Causes Money Shortage at British Legation.

Tokio, Sept. 15.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press.]—A money changer with a few thousand dollars capital could legitimately make a fortune here in the course of a few weeks under present conditions. Coins and bank notes of all nations float around and are generally accepted by everybody. The American dollar, which is the coin of commerce in China, generally goes to ordinary times at the rate of two for one American; now, however, for an American five dollar gold piece you get twelve, while on the other hand, for an English sovereign, which is not worth as much as a five dollar gold piece, you can get fourteen. The reason of this is that the sovereign is the best known and liked coin in the orient, and the Japanese and Indian soldiers are anxious to convert their silver into gold.

At the close of sale, the foot takes place daily at the British legation. Col. Scott Monteith, the main officer, takes in cash and bills of almost every civilized and has a regular list of exchange based on the value of American dollars to which coins the bidding takes place. The price of bar silver is going down, partly because when with large amounts endeavoring to leave have had their ships seized by the military power and a demand made as to where they obtained it.

In a campaign like the present where the troops of so many nations have met and watched one another's peculiarities and characteristics, the conduct of the troops of any one nation as a whole is especially interesting to watch, and America can proudly boast that the men representing her in China have proved themselves the equal if not the superior of any troops in China.

The unexampled conduct of the American has given General Chaffee an influence at the meetings of the generals which was held every many day, ahead of that of any other general. It is not disparaging either General Chaffee's hard common sense, which according to other generals has helped them solve many a knotty problem, for the personal

Hong Kong Ready to Serve the French Expedition for a Chinese Settlement.

Hongkong, Oct. 15.—A column of troops was dispatched this morning to the Kowloon frontier with the object of barring armed refugees, either rebels or imperial troops, from entering British territory when defeated. The rebels are reported to be three thousand strong thirty miles north of the British frontier. A thousand of Admiral Ho's troops are in pursuit of them, while five thousand Chinese troops have left Canton, overland, to intercept the rebels.

Admiral Ho has informed the government that the rebellion was carefully planned. The rebels are anxious to conciliate the villagers, and gain the respect of foreigners, hence the absence of outrages and pillage.

All indications point to the rising being widespread. Outbreaks occurred simultaneously in several centers of Kwang Tung and Kwang Si. Apparently Kang Yu Wei, Sun Yun and the rebels have amalgamated their forces in the common cause—the overthrow of Manchu rule in South China.

Some positive declaration of its attitude of the foreign powers is anxiously awaited.

A French launch was captured by pirates, October 13, near Mong Chow. The pirates secured $25,000 in specie.

Paris, Oct. 15.—Germany is the only power which has not replied formally to France's note on China, though she has verbally accepted its terms.

Japan's answer, received today, accepts the proposals, retaining only one condition. This refers to the permanent prohibition of the importation of arms. While agreeing with the principle, Japan offers suggestions as to how the prohibition can best be accomplished.

A dispatch received at the French foreign office from Hankow, dated October 14, says the Chinese court arrived at Sianfu, October 12.

Mr. Bryan in Ohio.

Canton, O., Oct. 15.—Before the train left Akron, this morning, Mr. Jones and Governor [illegible] the invitation of Mr. Bryan. It is understood that Mayor Jones will accompany with the presidential candidate on his New York tour.

The first stopping point was Canton, the home of the Nebraskan's rival for the presidency. A goodly crowd was at the station to meet Mr. Bryan. He was received with cheers and made a five minute speech.

New Philadelphia, Ohio, Oct. 15.—Mr. Bryan made his first important stop of the day at New Philadelphia, Ohio. The entire public square here was filled with people to hear him. Mr. Bryan spoke for forty minutes, and was followed by Mayor Jones and Congressman Lentz. Speaking of the ice trust and the accusation that some of the directors of that trust are Democrats, Mr. Bryan asked why the Republican governor of the State did not suppress that trust and thus prevent Democrats and others from getting the stock.

Youtsey Trial Proceeds.

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 15.—When court convened Nelson, for the defense said the physician reported Henry Youtsey's condition unchanged and asked for further postponement of the trial.

Judge Cantrill overruled the motion for continuance and said that all of the rights of the defendants would be preserved under the law.

Col. Crawford asked that the physicians be allowed to testify to the condition of the defendant. The request was granted and Dr. Carrick said Youtsey was weaker and he believed Dr. Mock was mortified. The door of Youtsey's room opened and he could be heard groaning and sobbing hysterically.

Judge Cantrill said he had no discretion in the matter and that trial must proceed. The commonwealth was given until 9 o'clock to say whether it will object to allowing Youtsey to remain in the jury room during the trial. Court then adjourned until 9 o'clock.

SECRET CONFERENCE NOW IN SESSI

Coal Operators and Railroad Mine Supe... Residents Meet—Settlement Though... by Miners to be Near.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 15.—A conference of the individual coal operators and the general mining superintendents of the coal carrying roads is in session this afternoon behind closed doors. It is attended by all the representative mining interests of the Wyoming and Lackawanna valleys. One of the superintendents said the meeting would continue all the afternoon, but he was not aware that any definite action would result. He thought some word would come to them from New York, which would direct the course to be followed.

THE POWDER QUESTION.

The only feature that the operators and their superintendents here dislike in the failure of the miners to incorporate the powder question in their proposal. This being left undecided will tend to keep the matter on edge for several days at least, and is regarded as a possible source of trouble in the future.

President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, will leave here from this afternoon, for Hazelton, but before he goes he may confer in connection of some important issues relative to the strike situation.
